IRB Training Requirements

All researchers (and their advisor, if a student) conducting human subjects research must complete IRB training. This requirement can be met by completing the online CTI course or attending a live training session. Training must be successfully completed prior to receiving IRB approval. All training certificates are good for 4 years.

ONLINE TRAINING

- Faculty and staff must successfully complete one of the following CITI course groups:
 - Social & Behavior Research Investigators OR
 - Biomedical Research Investigators
- Students must completed the following CITI course group:
 Students Conducting No More Than Minimal Risk Research

Refresher courses are available for each of the above groups upon expiration of your initial training
