University of Northern Colorado
Board of Trustees Resolution to Sell Real Property
OVERVIEW

UNC owns several single-family residences. During the late 1990s and early 2000s, UNC purchased dozens of homes for expansion of the campus, including the homes where parking lots C and Q are currently. Several of the remaining homes were purchased during the same time frame to allow for the expansion of adjacent parking lots.

Many existing homes are used as offices for campus departments, short-term stays for new faculty and staff, longer-term rentals for faculty and staff, and student housing. Given excess housing capacity in our existing residence halls and apartments, there is not a pressing programmatic need for these houses. Regarding parking expansion, additional parking inventory is unnecessary in the foreseeable future. Current parking inventory can also support the College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Staff is recommending the sale of eight underutilized houses UNC owns along 10th Avenue as soon as practical through a competitive process. Weld County’s assessed value of the eight recommended homes is approximately $2.4 million.
